

Uncovering That Hidden Talent!!

(Are your Noticeboards and Scoreboards Telling You Something?)

As everyone knows, the TPM³ Noticeboards and Scoreboards provide a wealth of important information for teams and for those who read the boards. They provide information to:

- Display & share achievements
- Gain agreement from others
- To share learnings
- Store documents between meetings
- Track & share measures & trends
- Understand links to company performance
- Visually check adherence to schedule, etc

However, part of the TPM³ journey is also about having some fun along the way and a couple of the teams at Sanitarium Cooranbong have really taken this to heart with some outstanding “extra” creativity on their Noticeboards and Scoreboards. Who knows, you may even discover some hidden talent that your team members.

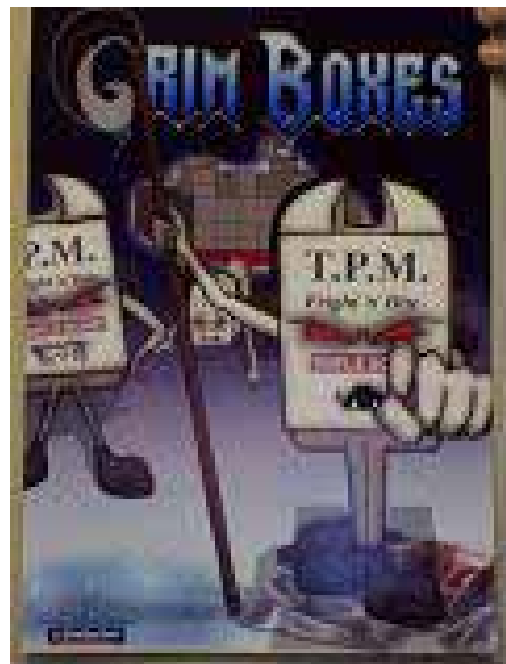

Afternoon Shift Noticeboard / Scoreboard, “Try Hard With Attitude”

The creative talent that these Work Area Management teams uncovered when they wanted to create a Team banner for their noticeboards / scoreboards belonged to their fellow workmates.

Day Shift WAM Noticeboard / Scoreboard, “Grim Boxes”

The Day Shift team, Phil Connolly (Team Leader), Frank, Krystle Hardy, Tonya, Sue and Phil Menzies, asked a co-worker, Glen Susans, to work with a design a fellow team member (who unfortunately has now left the company) to create this banner for the Grim Boxes. Glen, who completed a graphic design course last year, completed his design work at home on his computer and printed the banner out on his high quality colour printer. The results are quite spectacular as you can see. Glen isn't even on a team!

Glen Susans standing in front of his masterpiece

The Afternoon Shift (Ian Sheppard – Team Leader, Maureen, Melanie Gant, Reuben Pini and James) didn't even have to go outside their team to undercover some creative talent. Reuben

Reuben took a photo of their team leader, Ian Sheppard (see below), and superimposed it over the face of a well known actor to cut an imposing figure with a strong message for the team!

Look out Bruce W!!!

So next time you are looking for that “something different”, talk to those around you. Who knows what skills you may uncover.....?

For more information about TPM³ – Australasian Lean contact Jeremy Peacock, NSW Managing Navigator on 0419 876 363, CTPM Australasia Head Office on 02 4226 6184 or visit www.ctpm.org.au.