

Unprecedented Interest in Problem Solving Workshops

The first NSW Region Toyota Frontline Problem Solving Workshop was held in Sydney on 9 May 2008 at the Department of State and Regional Development in Parramatta. Interest in this workshop was unprecedented and the event was quickly sold out. In order to satisfy the local demand for this workshop, a second event was scheduled for 12 June 2008 and once again the demand was exceptional.

On this occasion, the workshop participants included representatives from:

- Boral Bricks
- General Mills
- Roblan
- MM Kembla
- Nestle
- Speedibake
- Confoil Containers
- Kimberly-Clark
- SC Johnson

Keith Saul - CTPM General Manager Operation, lead the workshop and provided comprehensive training in the key theories behind effective problem solving.

The workshop attendees spent a large proportion of their time at the workshop participating in interactive hands-on activities and working through genuine problems that had been brought along by the participants.

Throughout the workshop participants worked in teams to solve the problems presented and each team progressively shared their learnings with the other teams.

For more information about CTPM's upcoming Toyota Frontline Problem Solving Workshops, TPM³ Australasian Lean, or the TPM³ Annual Forum please contact CTPM Australasia on 02 4226 6184 or visit www.ctpm.org.au